Discount Fire Supplies To Give Away Free Batteries & Smoke Spray With Every Fire Alarm System In December

Online fire alarm retailer discountfiresupplies.co.uk will provide a set of fire alarm panel batteries and smoke detector test spray with every fire alarm system purchased on their website in December.

Discount Fire Supplies have unveiled their holiday season promotion whereby every customer who purchases a fire alarm system this month will receive free gifts to help maintain their fire alarm solution. To qualify for the product give-away customers simply have to complete the purchase of a full fire alarm system before 31st December 2012.

“A fire alarm system is defined as a fire alarm control panel, at least one fire detector and at least one manual call point.”

In the terms and conditions of this offer a fire alarm system is defined as a fire alarm panel, at least one fire detector and at least one manual call point.

It is a legal requirement to have backup power supply for every fire alarm panel in case of mains power failure. To help customers comply with this measure, Discount Fire Supplies will provide an appropriate set of batteries (each fire alarm panel requires 2 batteries) that will provide power to their chosen fire panel for the required standby time.

In addition to the batteries, customers will also receive a complimentary 35ml can of CHEKKIT smoke detector test spray. CHEKKIT is a non-toxic, non-flammable aerosol that emits a smoke-like substance which effectively tests the smoke sensors in fire detectors. It's quick and easy to use, with just a 1 second burst of aerosol required to test a single detector.

Customers are welcome to choose between addressable, conventional and two-wire fire alarm systems, as long as the minimum requirement is met their free gift will be dispatched with their order.

Discount Fire Supplies' usual high level of customer service still applies to anyone redeeming this offer and newsletter subscribers may still use their 5% discount code towards the value of their order. Orders placed before 2.30pm will be dispatched same day and all orders over £100 will benefit from free UK delivery.
