Discount Fire Supplies Offer 40% Off LED Emergency Downlight

Discount Fire Supplies are offering a massive 40% of their 1W self test LED emergency downlight, providing their customers with a saving of over £25.

Discount Fire Supplies, retailers of fire alarm systems and LED emergency lighting, have drastically reduced the price of their 1W self test LED emergency downlight for one month only in an attempt to help their customers make the transition from conventional emergency lighting to LED emergency lighting.

With all the advances in LED technology LED emergency lighting is becoming more and more popular. There are many advantages to LED lighting with energy conservation and reduced maintenance costs at the top of the list.

LED lighting produces light using just a fraction of the energy that traditional fluorescent and incandescent lighting uses. This equates to not only a saving on energy bills but, with LED emergency lighting having a lifetime of between 50,000 to 100,000 hours (roughly translating to around 600% more lighting time), it also drastically reduces maintenance costs. In addition to saving money, power saving LED emergency lighting can help businesses to reduce their carbon footprint thus making them more eco friendly.

The 1W Self Test LED Emergency Light that Discount Fire Supplies has available at this discounted rate is a sleek, flexible fitting that uses the latest LED technology. This technology allows for a discreet yet fully functioning emergency luminaire. The self test LED emergency light features an automatic annual and monthly self-test function and offers simple plug and go installation.

Tariq at Discount Fire Supplies says, "LED emergency lighting is a fantastic invention. Not only is it neat and tidy but it's a great way of conserving energy and reducing maintenance costs. We know that LED emergency lighting is not always the cheapest option so that's why we're offering 40% off our 1W self test LED emergency downlight for the rest of March. We hope to encourage our customers to make the switch to LED so they can see for themselves the savings that can be made."
