Convert Old Light Fittings Into Emergency Lights Using Laser-Pack Emergency Lighting Conversion Kits From Discount Fire Supplies

Using an emergency lighting conversion kit, tungsten halogen light fittings can be converted into maintained emergency lights. Two Laser-pack conversion kits from Channel Safety Systems are now available on the Discount Fire Supplies website.

Discount Fire Supplies are now stocking the Laser-Pack and Laser-Pack C2 emergency lighting conversion kits from Channel Safety Systems. These kits are self-contained and capable of powering 50W tungsten halogen lights for up to 3 hours in an emergency.

Emergency lighting is an intrinsic part of a building's fire safety – in the event of power failure, emergency lights will illuminate the rooms, hallways and stairwells throughout the premises allowing occupants safe passage to the outside world.

"Emergency lighting is essential but that doesn't mean business owners should be limited for choice in this aspect of fire safety. "

In some cases, the risk assessment of the building will identify the need for an emergency light where a light fitting is already in existence. In these cases it can be more economical to convert said light for emergency use rather than install an expensive new emergency lighting system. This is achievable through the use of an emergency lighting conversion kit.

Laser-Pack emergency lighting conversion kits consist of a battery, battery charger and the necessary wiring. The Laser-Pack C2 kit is a slimline version, being only 65mm wide, which is ideal for shallow ceiling voids.

Discount Fire Supplies have added these kits to enhance their already wide range of emergency lighting products which includes LED emergency lights, emergency exit signs and 2D emergency lighting. Tariq El-Hoss, director of the company, hopes that this addition will give customers even more flexibility and choice, "Emergency lighting is essential but that doesn't mean business owners should be limited for choice in this aspect of fire safety. "
